University of St.Gallen

Career & Corporate Services

Workshop: How to give and receive effective feedback

Develop your employees with feedback

Feedback is a powerful instrument that can give people insight in their competences and their performance. Giving good feedback is not that easy and if it is not given in a good way, it can cause a lot of emotions. We all have experience like that. But how can you provide feedback in such a way that it progresses development?

In this workshop we provide you and your team a structure and tips how to provide and receive feedback in such a way that it feels like a present.

In this workshop

✓ Your employees will learn the principles around giving and receiving feedback
✓ They learn different formats for providing constructive feedback
✓ They will practice different feedback situation

For more information
corporate-services@unisg.ch
+41 (0)71 224 39 00
hsgcareer.ch

From insight to impact.